Half Cash on Hand, Troops by Weekend?

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)-Diplomatic sources today predicted a United Nations peace force may be dispatched to battle-scarred Cyprus by this weekend now. that the United States and Britain have agreed to pay half the $6 million costs.

The two Western powers broke the financial stalemate Wednesday, and Secretary-General Thant immediately conveyed the news to representatives of the six nations he had asked to supply troops.

With enough money apparently assured for a stable start for the peace-keeping operation, diplomatic sources' said, positive responses to Thant's troops requests were expected to come in and the forces could be under way to Cyprus by the weekend.

'Ninety-Percenting' Parks

UNLESS HE WISHES TO LET the public think he has been throwing dust in its eyes, Mr. Kenneth Kiernan must produce a fuller explanation of the government's "nature conservancies" order incouncil than he has yet given:

It is not enough to say that these "areas of superlative natural beauty" are to be strictly limited to the public, with a complete ban on commercial and industrial development within them.

A tenth, or less, of the total Garibaldi Park acreage has been designated for this treatment. But what protection does the order-incouncil provide for this relatively small area that is not already extended by existing legislation to all of Garibaldi and every other Class "A" or Class "C" park in British Columbia?

By clauses of the Department of Recreation and Conservation Act, "lands included in any provincial park of Class 'A' or Class 'C' are reserved absolutely from pre-emption, sale, lease, or licence under the Land Act, and with respect to any other act regarding mining or any other matter are reserved un-less the consent of the Lieutenant-Governor in Council is obtained, and then only subject to the further provisions of this act.

'No holder or owner of any mineral claim located or held within the limits of any provincial park of Class 'A' or Class 'C' is entitled to apply for or receive a Crown grant the surface rights of the mineral

"All mineral claims within any provincial park of Class 'A' or Class 'C' and all records and grants in respect of such claims, are, in addition to the provisions of the mineral act, subject to such further terms and conditions and restrictions, including restrictions as to the cutting living up to the spirit or the letter and use of timber, as the Lieu- of the act he is sworn to administer?

By the act, timber "that is subject to disposition by the Crown in any provincial park of Class 'A' or Class 'C' is reserved from cutting or sale, except as such cutting and incidental sale may in the opinion of the Deputy Minister of Recrea-tion and Conservation be necessary or advantageous in developing and improving the park or protecting and preserving the major forest values of the park for the enjoy-ment of the public. No timber from a provincial park of Class 'A' or Class 'C' shall be sold for the primary object of revenue."

Even in the Class "B" parks, which are least protected, disposal of timber or land is not permissible "where, in the opinion of the Deputy Minister of Recreation and Conservation, disposal of such timber or land would be detrimental to the recreational value of the area.'

The intent of the law as set forth in this act is to keep the parks, and park assets, for the rec-reational enjoyment of the public, without commercial intrusion. It is certainly not the act's intent to give such protection to only 10 per cent.

of the park lands. Why, then, the tiny "nature conservancy" in Garibaldi? Mr. Roderick Haig-Brown has offered an answer: "By implication it suggests that the rest of Garibaldi Park is still available for commercial and industrial exploitation.

Has the government so far distorted the reading of the act to mean that special authority vested in the Lieutenant-Governor in Council is to be used not for the further safeguarding of the public's heritage, but as a means to invite the miners, the loggers and the "fastbuck" operators in? Helping the Older (PR) Worker

IN his budget of June, 1963, Mr. Walter Gordon approved of subsidy payments to encourage employers to take on workers over 45 and to provide them with "a signifi-cant amount of approved training." The theory was admirable. But the practice, as-with some other budget policies, shows a certain divergence

Western om the intentions of the planners.

According to an answer given in the House the number of such workers placed to January 31 was 468. Mr. Gordon's original thought, now amended in the light of experience, was that this should be the terminal date for appli-

But the government meanwhile has incurred other non-administrative expenses in publicizing the program. The total, to February I, attributable to television, newspaper advertising, magazines, pamphlets and brochures and other publicity media is $199,511. In other words it had cost, up to that time, about $426 to pay, at theoretical best, about $426 to pay, at theoretical best, a subsidy of $225 to each worker.

Of course the subsidy continues and It must not be forgotten that the workers are also receiving salary and training from the employers. It is possible although the notion is discouraged in official circles—that some of these workers might have been taken on and trained even if Mr. Gordon's advisers

If all these workers had been in had not hit upon this interesting scheme. There are other consolations. What pamphlets and brochures, some of which

The minister did add at the time that the policy was "novel" and "not without difficulties and risks." Now that the novelty has worn off, the difficulties should diminish with every television broadcast. According to policy-makers, there is nothing the matter with the program; it is merely a question of getting it on the rails.

They Call It 'De Gaulle Diplomacy'

AMBASSADOR Charles E. Bohlen has A meassabort cranes is sometimes come home from Paris for consulta-tion. The French government's dealings with France's allies certainly constitute an interesting, even a macabre topic, but it is doubtful whether the consultations will produce major results. Results are unlikely, simply because there is nothing much that can be done to alter the character of General de Gaulle's

Alsop diplomacy. But the time has certainly arrived for some honest fact-facing concerning Gaullist diplomacy's methods and aims. A good place to begin is with Michel Habib-Deloncle's interpretation of es in Gabon.

outside the country during the cam-paign, he led easily throughout the count. Much of this is attributed to Recently, as may be remembered, an army coup d'état briefly drove from office President Mba, the French quasipuppet in this little African state whose man population is literally outnumrestored to power by the intervention of the French army Subsequently, Habib-Deloncle, who is the Gaullist minister of state in the French Foreign Office, solemnly charged to an American newspaperman that the abortive Gabon coup d'état was U.S.-organized. Evidently Habib-Deloncle was speaking for his government, too, for anti-American riots were then stirred up by the French in Gabon, and the U.S.

change the whole situation. And after all, New Hampshire doesn't bassy was even symbolically bombed. In the actual charge made by Habib-Deloncie there is nothing novel. At various times the United States has been seriously charged in Paris with financing the Algerian rebellion and with fomenting at least one of the French army uprisings against General de Gaulle—which took place, of course, precisely because de Gaulle had treated with the Algerians.

with the Algerians.

It is more than usually eccentric, to be sure, to imagine American plots in such a place as Gabon. But what is really novel is that nonsense like Habib-Deloncie's charge now finds serious acceptance in the French government itself and may even be acted upon by that government, as the Gabon rioting indicated.

Thus, the first fact to note is that

Thus, the first fact to note is that Gaullist diplomacy is subject to what can only be described as bouts of neurasthenia. The explanation of this first fact may well lie in the second fact; governments, like individuals, tend to suspect others of doing whatever they are doing themselves; and it is now they are doing themselves; and it is now a well-established fact that the French overnment has secretly intrigued to feat American policy in places infinitely more important than Gabon.

The French intrigue with Ngo Dinh
Nhu, to promote a "neutralist" solution in South Viet New "neutralist" solution in South Viet Nam, was pooh-poohed in some quarters when first revealed by this reporter. There is no poon-pooning any longer, however, for the reality of this intrigue is now well established.

Intrigue Charges

that another new feature of Gaullist diplomacy is free indulgence in open untruth. Both the French foreign minister and the French ambassador Washington gave the most categorical assurances that General de Gaulle would not break relations with the Nationalist Chinese government in For-mosa in order to carry out his project of recognizing Communist China.

Taipei Switch

to U.S. officials, however, when the French representative in Taipei in-formed Chiang Kai-shek's government of General de Gaulle's intention to break off relations at an early date. More recently, the French Foreign Office also gave the British the most categorical assurances that no French arms would be supplied to aid the Indonesians in their attack on Malaysia. And there are now good reasons to believe that this promise has also been broken.

In short, the characteristics of Gaul-list diplomacy, as currently practised, list diplomacy, as currently practised, are not the characteristics of inter-allied diplomacy in the years when France was liberated and the years when both to health and vigor from misery and

As already noted, there does not seem to be much that can be done about this. It is supposed to be the inevitable The new leader of Viet Nam, Gen.

Nguyen Khanh, has also accused the French of carrying on pro-"neutralist" the French of carrying on pro-"neutralist" the wartime slights of Roosevelt and churchill and to make the greatness of France plain to the whole world, It may seem to be an odd way to demonstrate but those who should know emphatically consider Khanh's accusation well within the bounds of probability.

Then, too, it is also well established this. It is supposed to be the inevitable, indeed natural result of General de Gaulle's two desires, to be revenged for the wartime slights of Roosevelt and Churchill and to make the greatness of France plain to the whole world, It may seem to be an odd way to demonstrate grandeur; but we must be ready for more of it, when General de Gaulle reaches Latin America, for instance.

the disembodied papier mache legs, as high as your head, of 17-ft. cavallers;

giant Shakespearean effigies lying on their sides in the dust; towering blue glass fibre screens bearing slogans like "Grammar School, 1570-76"; and every-where the stench of hot glue.

Buckle says the exhibition could take 15,000 visitors a day, or 10,000 comfortably. On some popular weekends there may be long queues.

Fox said some $560,000 had so far been raised of the $1,400,000 target set for the appeal for the new Shakespeare centre and endowment fund. Much of the money and gifts have come from abroad, as a kind of "international birthday present," he said.

The Shah of Persia, for instance, was personally sending a carpet for the centre, the Indians and Ethiopians were giving furniture. Fox was trying to find two countries to put up money regular fellowships for overseas students

All Manner of Shows

Besides the exhibition, and the theatre (which is doing a cycle of seven histories), this year's Stratford Festival, lasting from April 21 to Sept. 6, will include every manner of reading, film show, folk-dance, and so on, most of it vaguely connected with the bard and his times in one way of another

A lot of local bodies are getting in on the act-from the Mid-Warwickshire Sweet-Pea Society to May Day revels by a nursery school. Schools, in particular, are going Elizabethan in a big way, and the children are getting excited—which is more than can be said for many of their parents.

Most Stratfordians affect an indifference to Shakespeare, despite the prosper ity he brings them. Mr. Fox has found it hard to prod the town council into playing their part, by providing extra parking space, etc. But he has induced landlords and shop owners to give a face-lift to many of the dirty old Tudor ades in the main streets.

REPORTING

OTTAWA - Britain's current anguish over its, "brain drain"," its loss of scientists to the United States, raises the question of whether we in this country shouldn't work up a little anguish too.

And, contrary to my expectation when I started digging into this matter, the answer

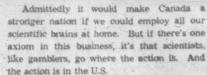

Britain has been losing about 150 PhDs a year to the States. Our brain drain to the U.S. is even greater. U.S. immigration figures show that in the year ending last June the U.S. admitted from Canada 163 scientists, 467 medical doctors and 844 engineers. But in the year that ended March 31, 1962, the last for which figures are available, Canada admitted 410 scientists, 530 medical doc tors and 967 engineers, plus 1,528 teachers and instructors, some of whom teach scientific and engineering subjects.

The ledger not only shows a profit for Canada in the import-export of brains, but it also suggests that many of our brain exports are not Canadian brains they're foreigners who have used Canada as a way stop en route to the U.S.

Moreover, the import side does not include Canadian professional people who have emigrated and then decided to return to Can-There is reason to believe that a not siderable number of Canadian scientists and others who take jobs in the States return to Canada after a few years and for various reasons—such as preferment of the Canadian school system for the education of their children.

And in another sense we haven't done badly in the Canada-U.S. brain trade: how many export PhDs is one C. D. Howe worth? Or one Dr. Wilder Penfield? Both came

YOUR HEALTH

The U.S. is reported to be spending more than $15 billions a year, well over twice the Canadian government's total budget, on research and development (R&D) in universi-ties, hospitals, government laboratories and industry. This buys the expensive equip ment that modern research needs. It pays technicians to operate equipment and re lieve the scientist of drudgery. It provides secretaries, translation services, travel funds and, not unimportantly, higher salaries.

Total Canadian spending on R&D-uni-versity, hospital, industry and governmenthas been estimated at $250 millions a year. In ratio to national production, this is about one-fourth of what the U.S. spends. A recent official survey showed that primary iron and steel spends only about 20 per cent of what U.S. iron and steel spends on R&D: that it employed only 54 professionals on R&D, and that in comparison "the Yawata Steel Co. (in Japan), with an annual pro-duction close to that of the total Canadian production, operates two research institu-tions staffed by 1,000 scientists and techni-

Obviously Canada should spend more on research. But we can't hope to compete with the U.S., nor should we try. The 49th parallel is an artificial line. Ideas, dollars and commodities flow back and forth across it to the mutual advantage of Canada and the U.S., and so must brains while if it grew from the kidney it looks like a bit of kidney Such a "low grade" tumor is likely to grow slowly, and it is slow to metastasize (to scatter throughout the body). I have seen persons with such cancers who lived on for ten years or more even without a "radical operation in which all of the tumor tissue that could be found was cut out. It is the long survival of many people with cancers of low-grade malignancy that gives the cancer quack whatever good reputation he has.

Cancers graded "II" are somewhat more malignant and more inclined to make trouble for the patient. Cancers of grades "III" and "IV" are likely to grow rapidly and to scat-ter quickly and widely through the body.

But there is another important factor and this is the one of the individual's resistance to the growth of cancer cells. This can make it possible for many a woman to go on living as many of my patients have done for ten or more years after a cancer, graded "IV," was removed, together with the breast and the invaded lymph nodes in the armpit. There are many people who, when they

That is about twice the year to year rise of recent years. But it was due in large part to a hookkeeping addition to government liabilities.

Finance Minister-Gordon repertured Thursday in tabling his pre-budget white paper in the Commons that the total net debt is expeted to stand at $15,138,000,000 at the end of this. $15,136,000,000 at the end of this

While this is a 91,216,000,000 increase in one year, only $685,-400,000 resulted from the gov-ernment deficit.

The remaining $531,000,000 was added to the debt to cover an acturial deficiency — reported by Mr. Gordon in his budget last June in the former Conservative government's amortization of superannuation

Mr. Gordon said there was a $525,000,000 actuarial shortage in the armed forces pension fund and the RCMP account vas $6,000,000 short, on an actuarial basis.

WILL BE WRITE-OFF

He said he will ask Parliament to write off these deficiencies to the net debt. It would be a bookkeeping operation—adding to the liability side of the government's balance sheet, but not a charge on his budget. At March 31, the total net debt thus would stand at $789.10 per capita on the basis of a

Fissure Forces Relocation Of Canyon Road

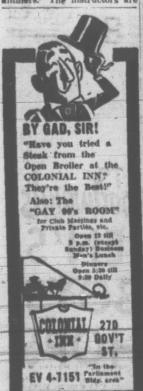

A rock fissure has forced redesign of part of the Trans-Canada Highway in the Fraser Canyon, Highways Minister P.

A. Gaglardi said Wednesday. But he said it is not true that there is a threat of a major blockage of the Fraser River through a rock slide. He was answering question

In the legislature by David Barrett (NDP-Dewdney) and Opposition Leader Robert Strachan.

The fissure is located above the highway a mile from Hell's Gate.

That's how Pit Martin, one of our fine young rookies, scored in Toronto earlier this season on just such a play.

Frank Mahovlich was being run on the boards. There was a fellow up in front at the point.

Mahovlich tried to get the puck up through the middle to Red Kelly. Pit anticipated his pass. He just stopped, pivoted, picked up the puck and shot it in the net, for an unassisted goal.

CLAIR GETS EXCITED; SHOCKS OTTAWA FANS

OTTAWA (UPI)—Coach Frank Clair of the Eastern Conference Ottawa Rough Riders has "shocked" Ottawa fans with an unprecedented burst of optimism.

Speaking at a sportsman's dinner, Clair said he was "more excited than I have been in many years," about the Riders' prospects for the 1964 campaign.

There's only one team I'm worried about (in the Eastern Conference) and that's the Hamilton Tiger Cats," Clair told the audience of 600 sports fans, "and we know we can beat Hamilton next year."

A friend who spends a great deal of time worrying and arguing about a distinctive flag for Canada has a bad dream that keeps coming back and back.

He is sitting at the dinner table when summoned by an obviously important ring of the telephone. He recognizes the voice of The Man who asks in booming tones:

"All right, so-and-so, what would YOU have us put in the tilags? I've got 60 seconds to listen to your answer."

MUNICIPAL WATER SUPPLY

The annual flushing of water mains and fire hydrants within the Municipality will be carried out during the month of March. This will have a wide-spread effect on the distribution system, causing a harmless and temporary discoloration of the water in some areas. It is not possible to define those areas exactly. Therefore all consumers are advised to take note that their individual supply may be affected.

Andy Stephen Looks at TV

Mae West's promised appearance on CBS-TV's Mr. Ed series is postponed from this Sunday to March 22 because the three-network interview with President Johnson will pre-empt the

The White House announced Monday that television networks will be allowed to edit and rearrange a three network interview with President Johnson that will be taped Saturday for Sunday night showing.

The White House said the networks have selected David Brinkley

NBC, Eric Sevareid of CBS and William L. Lawrence of ABC to do the interviewing.

For newspapers, the White House will make available the edited transcript, probably Sunday

This pattern was set in the 1962 interview with President John F. Kennedy. He opened a new channel for easy communication between the President and his nation when he reviewed his first two years the White House in an off-the-culf chat with three newsmen eight days before Christmas, 1962.

The Kennedy innovation recalled the radio "fireside chats" inaugurated by Franklin D. Rosevelt.

Like the Kennedy interview, the Johnson conversation this weekend will be an hour in length and taped in advance. The Johnson discussion is described as being in the nature of a review of his first 100 days in office.

If you're having trouble keeping up with the long list of shows which are getting the chop and new ones slated for next season, then you are not

Each year about 40 television series get the axe. This, according to some industry sources, is a good thing. There is a strong feeling that no series should be on more than two years.

It's not only good for the public to see different shows more often, but also for the creative talent in the industry.

Aside from anthology series, where there is a new story and cast each week, it is virtually impos-sible for a producer to present fresh material week in and week out for a period of a year. The public's viewing habits also change after a show becomes

The only hope is that the new shows to be launched will be of a quality good enough to ensure pleasurable hours of viewing for us and long life for themselves.

Jews Rally To Repay Greek's Aid

TORONTO (CP) - Toronto's Jewish community has rallied support for a 51-year-old immigrant from Greece who claims to have sayed 32 Jews from the Germans during the Second World War.

Theodorus Karakatsoukas, his wife and three children arrived here three weeks ago, broke and unable to speak English. They carried a letter of in-troduction which Mr. Karakat-soukas said was signed by many of the persons he saved. Myer Sharzer, executive director of the central region of the Canadian Jewish Congress, said Tuesday night his office has been swamped by offers of aid following publicity given the

In addition to financial aid, he said, Mrs. Karakatsoukas was given a job in a shoe factory and two Jewish clothiers have offered to outfit the entire family with new clothes. Mr. Sharzer said that, to be on the safe side, the congress is arranging verification of the role Mr. Karakatsoukas said he played in helping Jews.

Mr. Karakatsoukas has said that he persuaded 32 Jewish families in the village of Silichian in northern Greece, to hide from the Germans in caves where they lived from 1941 to 1943. He says he begged for bread through the village to feed them.

No Feud, But-LBJ, Kennedy Remain Cool

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House, after discounting reports of a feud between President Johnson and Attorney-General Robert F Kennedy, made an effort Wednesday to play down the apparent value of any pro-Kennedy drive in the Wisconsin preferential primary.

Talk of a feud coincided with an organized effort to have New Hampshire Democrats write in Kennedy's name for vice-president in Tuesday's New Hampshire primary. The attorney-general, who formally discouraged the move, made a strong showing although he did not receive as many write-in votes as Johnson.

CHICAGO (AP) — Disaster T. Breathitt has a saked President Johnson to declare 30 counties disaster areas.

When the Johnson-Reynolds session was over, White House officials let reporters know about it, and suggested they in-terview the governor.

Reynolds said any write-in-drive in Wisconsin's April 7 pri-mary would be "a little asin-ine," since presidential nomisince presidential nominees traditionally select their own running mates.

The governor said a write-in campaign "would serve no use-ful purpose," because state law does not provide for write-in candidates. He said such votes would not even be counted

The governor will be a Democratic candidate in the primary. said he assured Johnson that his slate, pledged to the president, will win over the announced candidacy of Governor George C. Wallace of Alabama.

More Blood Needed For Baby

REGINA (CP)-Another call for a supply of rare blood went out to the United States today as doctors continued their efforts to give a Regina infant a boost in his struggle for life. Doctors s'a i d Phillip Scott Kovatch, born Monday night, was continuing to gain ground and so far has been given four pints of VEL negative blood flown to Regina from Boston and Los Angeles.
They estimated at least two

Canada 'All Set' To Go With UN Cyprus Force

Half Cash on Hand, Troops by Weekend?

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—Diplomatic sources today predicted a linited Nations peace force may be dispatched to battle-scarred Cyprus by this weekend now that the United States and Britain have agreed to pay half the $6 million costs.

The two Western powers broke the financial stalemate Wednesday, and Secretary-General Thant immediately conveyed the news to representatives of the six nations he had asked to supply troops.

With enough money apparently assured for a stable start for the peace-keeping operation, diplomatic sources said, positive responses to Thant's troops requests were expected to come in and the forces could be under way to Cyprus by the weekend.

MUNICIPAL WATER SUPPLY.

The annual flushing of water mains and fire hydrants within the Municipality will be carried out during the month of March. This will have a wide spread effect on the distribution system, causing a harmless and temporary discoloration of the water in some areas. It is not possible to define those areas exactly. Therefore all consumers are advised to take note that their individual supply may be affected.

Business establishments, and others, to whom the color of the water is of prime importance, should advise the Water Works Superintendent at the Municipal Yard, 1040 McKenzie Ave., Tel. GR 9-1633,
